

Members' exhibition, West Ox Arts Gallery, Bampton, Oxfordshire, March 2010

“A thought-provoking exhibition in Bampton by the Oxford Art Society offers a range of skilled artists bursting with ideas”... The Oxford Times

Below: Jago Pryce, Oxford Art Society (OAS) Chair, left, with Gill Salway, Chair of West Ox Arts opening the OAS Members Show. Gill spoke of her roll with West Ox Arts reaching out to the wider community with the opportunity for artists to exchange ideas and connect through the gallery. Gill commented on the splendid quality of work displayed by the Society.

At the Private View Bruce Pont bought a sculpture by Juliet Dyer called Gathering the Harvest. Bruce said that as a gardener he really appreciated the subject matter and was delighted with his purchase.
