

Young Artists' Open prizes 2009

During the exhibition in May at the North Wall Gallery organised by Rona, Deputy Chair of the Society. Sculpture prizes were awarded by Pam Foley, OAS member and sculptor, to young artist's Faye Miller and Chase Marsden. The prize was spending time with Pam creating artwork in her studio.

Pam oversaw the process saying 'we worked solidly for the entire time and Faye and Chase were wonderful. They were enthusiastic and got stuck in right away. They now have their casts, but will be working on them more at home; painting them, or polishing, however they want to finish them'.

The Society would like to thank Pam for giving her time, skill and advice encouraging today's artists.

Photos, top: Pam helps Chase and Faye get the creative juices flowing. Middle: Chase makes his sculpture in clay and prepares his work for the plaster mould; Both works are filled with plaster; Faye's cast is out of the mould. Bottom: Faye and Chase show their work.